"sacramental grace."
Rather, sacramental
grace is a special grace which, as the Catechism of the Catholic Church notes
is "proper to each sacrament." The purpose of sacramental
grace is to help us to gain the particular
spiritual benefits (including other graces) conferred by each sacrament.

The means of grace
The means of grace
are the outward
methods by which we
receive saving grace;
cf. WLC 153, WSC 85.
They are related to the means of sanctification. The means of grace which are specifically related to the church are the word of God, prayer,
and the sacraments.
