Sacramental living means to look at all of life the way we look at sacraments (according to your tradition these are Communion, Baptism, Marriage among others). If all of life as a Jesus-follower is seen as sacramental, then everything becomes sacred for the believer. Every act, every thought, every word becomes sacred.

What is Sacramental Living?

The sacraments are sacred signs. They show Christ's presence in all the key moments of life: birth, death, coming of age, community leadership, the most basic relationships of family, our daily struggle to love better, and, in the Eucharist, our daily life in communion with the God we worship. The sacraments confer grace.

The Sacramental Life - The Catholic Spiritual Life

Confirmation seals our life of faith in Jesus. Its signs are the laying on of hands on a person's head, most often by a bishop, and the anointing with oil. Like Baptism, Confirmation is received only once.

The Seven Sacraments | Loyola Press

The sacraments of Christian initiation - Baptism, Confirmation, and the Eucharist - lay the foundations of every Christian life. The sharing in the divine nature given to men through the grace of Christ bears a certain likeness to the origin, development, and nourishing of natural life.

The hallmark of the daily Catholic adult life should be a liturgical life; that God is involved in the rhythms of time and space. The whole of the Christian life is meant to be permeated and marked by the activity of God in our own lives and the summit of this realization is the Liturgy and the Sacraments. The reception of these sacraments commits us to live a liturgical life, and this does not mean just going to Mass on Sunday and going to Confession once a year.

We partake of the Sacraments not to be saved by consumption, but to be freed by participation. Eucharist is more of a quantum entanglement of our lives and God's life, a sacred exchange, so that our lives becomes God's life and God's life becomes our lives. This is the only way God can break into the world.
