Seiko SAT100 electronic tuner review

I couldn't find info on a ST100, but I did find a Seiko SAT-100, and if this is what you have, it doesn't have the ability to tune down a half step. You would need a chromatic tuner to do that. The SAT100 only tunes to the notes E-A-D-G-B-E. If you had a chromatic tuner, you would tune the string until you saw one of the following notes show up on the display (depending on the brand of tuner ...

5 user reviews on Seiko SAT100. I use it for over two years. The battery still works nickel. The advantage is that you can use it three ways, effects loop of the amplifier with its input and output jacks, one input (unplug the guitar to the amp), or the built-in microphone (but less accurate, plus it captures some harmonics).

Seiko Sat 100 Guitar And Bass Tuner Manual ...

Tuning my acoustic guitar can sometimes be a real challenge, especially since it's difficult to find the correct note by ear. In any event, I got my hands on one of SEIKO's tuners, the SAT100. It's a relatively small device (4 x 2.5 ") and can be used to tune a 6-string guitar. or a bass guitar.

INSTRUCTION MANUAL

When tuning an electric guitar or bass, connect the output cord of the instrument to the input jack While the cord is connected to the input jack , the built-in microphone will not work.
