This first installment of James Lee Burke's Dave Robicheaux series was my introduction to this author, and I was quite pleased with the experience! Undoubtedly gritty and often quite violent, The Neon Rain still managed to surprise me with a generous amount of almost poetic prose that was completely unexpected. The sense of atmosphere is almost dripping off the pages at times

Neon Rain is the first in the Dave Robicheaux series by James Lee Burke. It was interesting to see how he and Cleve Percell began as partners and how some of the wild history that's been mentioned in later books began. Dave is an older, southern version of Jack Reacher. He's gritty, larger than life, and tortured by memories of Vietnam.

Neon Rain marks the first appearance of Dave Robicheaux, Burke's idealistic Cajun cop. I've read/listened to all of the books in the series but had somehow missed this one. I encourage everyone who likes Burke's flawed detective to listen to The Neon Rain, by doing so you will gain insight into Dave's earlier life, and why he lives like he does.
